How Oil Profits Grow Size is best appreciated by comparison.

As a concentration of the mass of figures relating to the operations of the Standard Oil companies, C. W. Barren, of the Boaton News Bureau, focuses the matter very apily in a recent article dealing with "The Mexican Problem." The following excerpt is taken from that article:

"The Standard Oil people operating only in American territory and destring to mine only 10 or 15 percent of the oil they transport and refine, have taken in dividends, and created in value, more than $5,000 000,000 from the transportation, refining and marketing of oil. This is a sum five times our recent national debt. It is also the sum of the cost of prosecuting our civil war. It would dig a dozen Panama canals and it represents more than one-third of the values that legislation has permitted to remain in the entire transportation system of the United States."

ONLY CAPITALISTS ARE ABLE TO BUY STOCK IN STANDARD OIL and its subsidiary companies, but Oklahomans and others can buy 1,000 shares of SAMMIE OIL CORPORATION for $100.

The brave and bold persist even against fortune; the timid and cowardly rush to despair through fear alone.—Tacitus, GET INTO THE OIL BUSINESS WITH US, AS OUR DEFINED POLICY ENRICHES EVERYONE AND DOES NOT IMPOVERISH A SINGLE SOUL.

The world's greatest reservoir of oil yields riches to the magic of money and business judgment. Experience in the Mid-Continent field has unmistakably demonstrated that success comes to those who have the money at hand when the opportunity of promise is discovered, and who have the intelligent judgment to see it. Khowing these things, we agreed to associate ourselves and by this co-operative plan assemble sufficient capital so that we can tackle any oil proposition, large or small, that offers profits and dividends. You cannot today buy stock in the Texas Company, or Magnolis, er Manhattan, or other great oil companies builded on the lines of our defined policy.

We have been doing business for sixty days. What is the result? In pursuance of our defined policy, we have acquired one hundred and ten barrels of settled production; we have four offset wells to drill immediately in the great Healdton Field; we expect to bring this production up to one the great Health First, we expect to bring this production up to one thousand barrels a day within a short time. The ushers at "Billy" Sunday's big "Glory Barn" were receiving their last words of instruction from the Rev. James E. Walker, who is the last word in usher generalship.

"And when the wives of clergymen visit the tabernacle make every effort possible to obtain good seats for them," he said, "no matter how many wives a clergyman seems to have.

I say that because of an incident when we were at Paterson. There we had a special section for clergymen's wives and the ushers found it at times trying. One day a woman tiptoed down the aisle to the section and told an usher that she was the wife of the Rev. John Smith Jones. The usher was very Smith Jones. The usher "All right, ma'am," he said, 'you're the fifteenth wife of Dr. Jones who has asked for a seat today, but you are more than welcome to it."
